The Financial Commission (FinaCom), an independent self-regulatory compliance specialist for the financial services industry, has announced the appointment of Quinn Perrott to its Dispute Resolution Committee (DRC).

Quinn Perrott is the latest industry expert to join the DRC, which follows a non-bias protocol in order to process and resolve complaints from its members' clients.

At the moment Quinn holds the position of General Manager at TRAction Fintech – a company offering online brokers a solution for seamless report transactions and open positions across all OTC derivative asset classes with built in reconciliation and monitoring capabilities.

He recently appeared as a panel member discussing "The Value of Regulation in an Unregulated Market" at the iFX EXPO ASIA 2017:

Background

Quinn has an extensive background in IT. He started in the financial markets as IT Manager for City Index. He then went on to be the co-founder and General Manager of AxiTrader, one of Australia's largest margin FX providers. Quinn's knowledge of OTC derivatives and trading platforms has made him an important figure in the derivatives regulatory and industry reform space.

Quinn has provided educational sessions to Australia's regulatory bodies in relation to retail derivatives trading platforms. Quinn has also dealt with Treasury in Canberra, Australia to advise on and discuss the retail OTC derivatives industry.

The Financial Commission recently welcomed its latest member firm, adding FXB Trading (under brand name FAZCO CAPITAL LTD) to its growing global membership.
